MIDSTREAM

High-impact midstream solutions are here.

Making our world more energy efficient means connecting all the right people to the right customers with the best technology our industry has to offer. We work with people at every level of the supply chain, like retailers and distributors, to lower costs, increase sales and expand access to high-impact energy-saving upgrades.

We connect for success.

With the largest network of manufacturers and distributors in North America, our experienced teams are more than ready to ramp up the supply chain and quickly deliver trackable results in our unified data platform, CLEAResult ATLAS™.

1 Build

Our existing relationships with the largest distributors in the country means you can quickly onboard and build out your network with the strongest players in the game. When needed, we're also experts at finding local distributors to maximize your program reach.

2 Track

Keep the pulse of your program with real-time dashboards in CLEAResult ATLAS™ Connect, including access to Program Partner Central, our best-in-class portal for distributors and other participants to get involved without an operational burden.

3 Save

Once your midstream network is set up and expanded, you'll see the supply chain rapidly rise to gain market share and put meaningful money and energy savings in customers' hands.

How we get the job done

Program administration

Whether your midstream program is ready to scale or just gaining traction, we can manage your entire program and its participants from end to end with room to grow.

Monitoring, tracking and reporting

Once your customer's systems are installed, we'll follow up periodically and report any savings or maintenance needs to everyone involved.

Rebate fulfillment

Connect your program to our diverse network of distributors, retail partners and community organizations to make access to midstream incentive savings easy.

Virtual inspections and quality assurance (QA/QC)

Guide, inspect and verify your customers' equipment installations virtually to give everyone confidence that they're set up to save energy properly.
